

Biographical Sketch

David Rodrigues, Ph.D.
Pfizer Inc, Groton CT

Dr. Rodrigues has been in the pharmaceutical industry for 25 years and now serves as Research Fellow at Pfizer (Pharmacokinetics, Dynamics & Metabolism Department; Groton, CT). He is head of the Transporter Sciences Group. Before joining Pfizer in April of 2014, he worked at various pharmaceutical companies (BMS, Merck, Abbott, and Searle); serving on both managerial (Director, Senior Director, and Executive Director) and research (Fellow) ladders. Prior to joining the pharmaceutical industry, Dr. Rodrigues studied in England and graduated with a B.Sc degree (Kingston-Upon-Thames Polytechnic, Kingston, Surrey) and a Ph.D (Surrey University, Guildford, Surrey). Upon graduation, he joined the laboratory of Dr. Russell Prough and conducted postdoctoral studies (University of Louisville School of Medicine, Louisville, KY). Dr. Rodrigues is interested in the application of in vitro drug metabolism and transporter techniques, animal models, integrative and translational PK-ADME science, problem solving, and the discovery and development of new chemical entities. He has (co-) authored numerous book chapters, over one hundred peer-reviewed manuscripts, and has presented at over 60 symposia/meetings. Dr. Rodrigues is an AAPS Fellow and has served on the ISSX Scientific Affairs Committee. He has also served on the Editorial Board of numerous drug metabolism journals, is currently Associate Editor of Xenobiotica, and has edited/co-edited 4 books (3 related to drug interactions and one on the topic of drug metabolism).
